MORE RIPPLES FROM RASCALITY.

Political Points on Parnell in England.

Australian Parliament is in Session.

Editors in Session.

SAINT PAUL (Minn.), July 16.—At a meeting of the Editorial Association this morning W. E. Pabor of Denver read a communication from women friends of Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania, urging that action be taken on the omission of details on the reports of crimes, including suicides, scandals, breaches of faith and honor. He offered a resolution expressing sympathy with the efforts to preserve the purity of the press, urging judicious use of the blue pencil on sensational and criminal reports, believing the purer the tone of the paper the more powerful for good it becomes. Referred to Committee on Resolutions.

A discussion on "County Weekly" followed by the question of advertising in patent insides was discussed. W. D. Hunter of Lawrence, Ind., read a paper on the "Secular press, its power for good and evil." Frank Richardson of New York, advertising agent, read a paper on "advertising." J. W. Scott of Chicago spoke on the subject of "newspaper bureau at the World's Fair."

English Political Points.

LONDON, July 16.—Lord Salisbury says he believes the question of women voting demands some consideration. He declares home rule cannot afford any judgment in England.

Speaking in regard to a revision of the electorate Lord Salisbury declared any change in this direction ought to be associated with a redistribution of seats in Parliament. Ireland, Wales and North Scotland are greatly over-represented, while England, especially London, is greatly under-represented and a distribution of seats must be to the advantage of Conservatives.

Earl Spencer, formerly Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, declares the policy of the Liberals is in favor of home rule for Ireland and is as popular in English constituencies now as before the disaster occurred to the Parnellites, and home rule would be the first proposal introduced in the next Liberal Parliament.

Land District Enlarged.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The President has issued an order enlarging the boundaries of the Judith land district, in Montana, by the addition of 3,348 square miles thereto; 2,808 square miles are taken from the Yellowstone district, situated immediately east of Judith district; and the remaining from the Helena land district, west of Judith district.

Australian Parliament.

SYDNEY (N. S. W.), July 16.—Word Jersey, in opening Parliament, announced bills entirely remodelling the electoral law, and greatly extending the franchise among citizens, including women. "The question of the union of Australian colonies will be introduced without delay, in order to ensure concurrent action by the other colonies."

Ripples of Rascality.

HARRISBURG (Pa.), July 16.—Auditor McCamant, speaking of the statement that he shares with Philadelphia's defaulting treasurer, Bardsley, for rebates on account of State advertising, denies with emphasis that he ever received any money.

President's Appointments.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The President has appointed Marvin D. Wheeler of New York Chief Postoffice Inspector in place of Major Rathburn, appointed Fourth Assistant Postmaster General.

Reducing Duty on Wheat.

LONDON, July 16.—A decree was promulgated reducing the import duty on wheat to seven reals per kilogramme.

The Kansas Failure.

ATCHISON, July 16.—The attorney for George W. Howell, of Howell, Lamb & Co., who failed yesterday, says the failure was caused by the failure of the Jeffersonville Lumber Company, which was a debtor to Howell for $400,000, and the sale of the plant by Howell and the sale of the Omaha plant by Herbert Jewett, which was wholly unexpected. The liabilities of the Atchison concern are $250,000, of which the First National Bank of Chicago is a creditor for $200,000. The assets of the Howell concern are placed at $3,000,000. The liabilities are unknown. C. F. Blount of this city filed an attachment for $50,000, and the Missouri Pacific for $1,300.

Lawyers are receiving numerous claims against the Howells. One firm received yesterday over four hundred thousand dollars in claims against them by telegraph, mostly accommodation papers. C. H. Blount, retail lumber of this city, who has $50,000 of this kind of paper outstanding, has instituted attachment proceedings. Blount states the outstanding accommodation paper will reach from one to one and a half million dollars.

International Council.

LONDON, July 16.—At this morning's session of the International Congressional Council, Rev. J. McLean, of Oakland, Cal., spoke on home missions, and in the afternoon President C. W. Northrup of Minneapolis, addressed the council at conference upon public morals.

At a meeting to be held on Monday, a resolution will be submitted that moral law is equally binding on men and women, and that the privileges of adulterers and regulation of prostitution be abolished, and that the age of consent be raised to sixteen years.

Fruit Sales.

CHICAGO, July 16.—The Earl Fruit Company sold to day Bartlett pears at $2 15@2 50; early Crawford peaches, $2 10; St. John peaches $1 85; Hale's early peaches, $1 25@1 50; Red Flag peaches, $1 75; apricots, $1 35@1 70; German prunes, $1 60@1 90; Tragédie prunes, $2 00; peach plums, $1 40@1 50; purple Duane plums, $1 40@1 50; Bradshaws, $1 50@1 75; St. Catherine's, $1 35@1 50.

Mexican Murderer.

CLETON (A. T.), July 16.—Lonjino Jinsu murdered his wife this morning at San Jose. She left him five months ago and was living with another man. Jinsu stabbed her with a dagger driving it to the hilt through her breast. Afterwards he laughed over the deed.

Duquesne Strikers.

PITTSBURG (Pa.), July 16.—The threatened riot of strikers at Duquesne this morning did not materialize. The Allegheny Bessemer Steel Company started its plant in full operation. Everything is quiet. Many amalgamated men returned to work.

Arrival of Clarkson.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The City of Paris had on board ex-Postmaster General Clarkson, President of the National Republican League.

Weather Report.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—Forecast, fair weather.

The Medals of 1890.

The name of Hannibal Hamlin recalls those medals issued during the campaign of 1890. They contained an ambrotype portrait of the candidates. On most of them Mr. Hamlin was given such a swarthy complexion that the belief in the lie industriously circulated in the South that one of his parents was a mulatto and that he was named in honor of the great Carthaginian to blazon his African descent before the world. At all events, thousands of people in the South actually believed that "Lincoln and a nigger" were the Republican candidates.

Absorption of the Dimes.

The absorption of the dimes by the little dime savings banks still continues. The demand on the mints for this denomination of coins is unprecedented, and last month the director of the Philadelphia Mint, which has hitherto coined all the dimes, had to call on the institution at New Orleans to help out. What an object-lesson in the art of saving money these little banks have proved! If it is so easy to save dimes, why not quarters and halves and dollars.

Hero's Trial.

The testimony for the prosecution and defense in the Horn case is all in and the arguments began at 1 o'clock to-day. The case will likely go to the jury late this afternoon.

Cablegrams From the Chili Rebels.

Haytians in Exile Elect a Chieftain.

Insurgents Story.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—The following telegram has been received by Don Pedro Moutt, the representative of the Chilean insurgents here: Iquique, July 15.—There has been no battle in Coquimbo; the only combat that has taken place has been between our vanguard and the rear guard of the dictator's army to the south of Valparaiso in the valley of the Huasco, and in the combat the troops of the dictator fled. Our troops occupy the whole province of Atacama. The following cablegram was received this morning:

Iquique, July 15.—Our army continues to accoutrement with the arms received from Europe. The greatest enthusiasm and discipline reigns. A large number of volunteers come to our ranks daily. Supplies continually arrive by steamer from California, Peru and all parts of the Pacific; provisions are abundant in Iquique. The nitrate works are in great activity and the exportation of salt petre produces abundant revenue. From Santiago we are informed that the resources of Balmaceda are constantly diminishing. The people are terrorized by continuing outrages and fusillades committed. There is great discontent in the dictator's army. A few days ago a revolution was almost successful in Balmaceda's fleet vessels. Their crews are impatient to join their comrades, who fight for constitution and laws.

The Slaughtered Sailor.

SAN DIEGO, July 16.—The inquest began yesterday afternoon on the remains of the sailor of the Charleston, who was killed on Tuesday. The evidence develops that the officers who claimed to be United States Deputy Marshals were not deputized by Marshal Gard, and, therefore, had no authority to arrest the sailors. Marine burial services were held over Brown on board of the Charleston this morning and the remains were then brought ashore. They will be sent to San Francisco by this afternoon's train.

At the inquest this morning the evidence is even stronger than yesterday; that the attack of the officers was criminally brutal. The inquest will probably continue until to-morrow. It develops this morning that a well arranged plan to lynch the Deputy Marshals hung fire last night. Sixty citizens fully armed were up until 2 o'clock this morning debating whether or not the prisoners should be lynched. Better counsels prevailed, and it was at last concluded to await the result of the inquest. There is an apparent determination on all sides to see justice done. The inquest is being held in one of the Superior Court rooms.

Haytians Exiles.

NEW YORK, July 16.—The Haytian revolutionists exiled met in general assembly at Kingston, Jamaica, June 29th, and elected General Ansele Prophete, General-in-Chief of their forces. A pronouncement was issued by the General-in-Chief, setting forth the horrible crimes of General Hippolyte, and summoning his fellow-citizens to join him in the delivery of the Haytian people. The new commander is considered one of Hayti's ablest soldiers.

Firemen's Malaries.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—District Attorney Barnes has filed with the Supervisors his opinion on the appeal of certain employees of the fire department from the action of the Auditor in refusing to audit their salary demands for the month of May. Greenwood of Missouri; First Vice-President, W. R. Garret of Tennessee; E. B. Mallory of Oregon, was elected Vice-President at Large. Directors representing various states were also elected.

Assessment Too Low.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16.—Messrs. Heppburn and Morehouse of the State Board of Equalization made a visit to the New City Hall. They do not like the local assessment roll, as they think the totals are not high enough, and that certain estates do not make the showing they should. They want some corrections made before they meet in September to fix the tax levy, and ask the Supervisors to help them.

A. Shattock, Recorder of the new district, and Mr. Davis, who is interested in some more prominent mines. Mr. Montgomery is pleased with some recent mineral discoveries in that vicinity, and said, "Later arrivals are well pleased with the prospects, and very few have visited the district without either camping there outright or coming back again." The mines on which work is being done are opening well. The shaft on the Chispa has been sunk five feet in the vein and ore samples show well all the way down, recent assays from the bottom of the shaft running all the way from $27 to $394 to the ton.

Hon. H. F. BARTINE last week delivered an address at Ogden and the Standard pays him this handsome compliment:

"Those who attended the opera house on Saturday afternoon heard probably as able and logical a statement of the aims and accomplishments of the Republican party as they will ever have the good fortune to listen to. We refer to the speech of Hon. Horace F. Bartine. From beginning to end it was a rare piece of calm, close argument, compact as to its reasoning, impregnable as to its logic; and its array of historical facts was as convincing as its clean-cut sentences were impressive. After hearing him, no auditor need be told that, though representing the numerically small State of Nevada, Mr. Bartine is an authority in the National Congress, a speaker to whom his associates are pleased to listen, a worthy colleague to those Western giants, John P. Jones and William M. Stewart. His thorough acquaintance with his party's and his country's history was evident in every sentence of his remarks; and his power and experience as a public speaker were well illustrated in the keenness and rapidity with which he made his points. A Democratic friend at our elbow remarks: 'I was more impressed with Mr. Bartine's address than anything I have yet listened to from the Republican side. As a Democrat I would consider it the hardest one to reply to.' This is no doubtful praise, for our Democratic friend thinks he is able to reply to and refute anything that the best of the Republicans can bring from their side of the case."

"Mr. Bartine is a near neighbor of ours, and has already shown his kindly feeling toward our Territory. We are proud of him, and can promise him, not only for Ogden and Weber county, but also for the whole of Utah, that he will always be a welcome guest within our gates."

As the GAZETTE predicted last evening, the Democrats of Ohio straddled the money question, but finally adopted the following silver plank by a vote of three hundred and ninety-nine to three hundred. "We demand a re-statement of the constitutional standard of both gold and silver, with equal right of each to free and unlimited coinage." Just what the Ohio Democrats mean is hard for us living at this distance to comprehend. The platform adopted a string of abuses of the Republicans and the administration, with the "billion dollar Congress" occupying a front seat, but they dodge every question but the tariff. They meet that issue and say in substance "we will fight it out on that line." The Democratic party are so wedded to slave labor that they have found it hard to break away, and for the want of something better to do insist on protecting the peasantry of England in preference to Americans. The Democratic party would destroy every vestige of a free and enlightened government in a quarter of a century if they were in power.

THE Harvey armor-plate has proved to be a new triumph of American ingenuity and skill. At the test recently made at Annapolis they beat the record of resistant power. The English and French manufacturers have been experimenting for years to get the best plates. France was ahead until we entered the competition. We are already making the best gun, and are now experimenting on projectiles, with favorable results thus far.

THE tariff is a tax on foreign goods which come in to alienate American mills, to drive American labor from employment and to turn a stream of money from domestic circulation to foreign shores.

SEVERAL foreign firms are sending circulars to this country offering their goods at the regular list price, carriage and duty paid; and still the parrot screams: "The tariff is a tax."

DEATH IN THE ALPS.

Tourists Killed While Climbing the Mountains.

Fourteen Lives Lost Among the Rugged Heights During the Year 1890 - Some Miraculous Escapes.

Since Alpine climbing became a popular amusement there have never been so many fatal accidents in any one year as have marked the season of 1890.

The last number of the British Alpine Journal says that fourteen persons, travelers and guides, have perished in accidents above the snow line during the last summer. This does not include some very serious accidents occurring, not to pleasure tourists, but to people whose line of duty requires them to travel in the high Alps.

For instance, about fifteen Italian soldiers, engaged to march from fort to fort in the Alps during the last summer, have been overtaken by storms or avalanches which have cost them their lives. One party of six men, swept from their feet, were precipitated more than one thousand six hundred feet to the bottom of a valley, and four of them were killed, but two miraculously escaped. The most astonishing escape of the season was that of a few Italian soldiers who were overtaken by an enormous avalanche and rolled down the mountain with the speed of an express train, yet, strange to say, they were suddenly stopped on a level space after a fall of one hundred and fifty feet, and were unharmed beyond a few scratches. The avalanche swept on past them, leaving the young soldiers staring at one another, astonished to find that they were still alive.

The accidents, however, which are here described relate only to tourists and their guides. June 24 a German, Mr. Poppe, was killed in the Octathal. He fell from a ledge and dragged with him his guide, who also perished. July 31 Dr. Mayer, of Vienna, and his young son attempted to ascend a mountain in the Kapruner Thal, under the guidance of the experienced mountaineer, Scherndorfer. The usual search party was organized after the tourists had been several days missing, and the bodies of the entire party were found at the foot of a precipitous cliff. It was evident from the appearance of the guide that he had made remarkable efforts to save the lives of his comrades. On the same day a guide named Untersteiner, after having conducted a tourist in an excursion on the Venediger, set out to return alone to his home. Some days later his tracks were found across a glacier, but his body has not been discovered.

Two Italian gentlemen on August 13 ascended the Col du Geant with a well-known guide named Brunod. He left them to fill a water bottle near the summit. On returning to the party he slipped and fell a distance of one thousand feet, and when the others reached him he was dead. Six years later Count Villanova of Turin left the canyon of Vaillole to endeavor to reach the summit of Mont Blanc by a new route. He had with him two well-known guides, one of whom has long been regarded as among the half dozen most competent guides in the Alps. Not one of the party has been heard from since. This is one of the very few casualties which, in recent years, have occurred on the slopes of Mont Blanc. The tracks of the party were discovered after a few days upon the upper portion of the Miage glacier. The probability is that the party camped at a great elevation on the evening of August 16 and were lost in a great storm that occurred on the 19th. The tourists were very wealthy, and the most extraordinary efforts have been made to recover their bodies, but without success.

Seven days later Carrel, an Alpine guide who is known among mountaineers all over the world, whose name appears in every Alpine book that has been written within the last twenty years, met an honorable and indeed a glorious death on his own mountain. It was he who made the first ascent of the Matterhorn from the Italian side, and also accompanied Mr. Whymper on his ascent of Chimborazo. On his last fatal trip he led Sig. Sinigaglia, a comrade from the cabin on the Italian side to the foot of the mountains in perhaps the worst snowstorm that ever raged on that famous mountain. For fourteen hours the party of three contended with the bitter cold, during which they did not dare stop to take food. Carrel, as usual, in spite of his advanced years, took the lion's share of the work. At length they reached a place of safety at the foot of the mountain. No sooner had they emerged from danger than Carrel cried out: "I know no longer where I am. I have no strength left." "We tried to lift him," writes Sig. Sinigaglia, "but it was impossible. He was getting stiff. We stooped down and whispered in his ear if he wished to commend his soul to God. With a last effort he answered faintly: 'Yes,' and then fell on his back dead in the snow."

The accident was not due to any rashness or carelessness. The party had chosen a fine day for the journey, but a most sudden and most unexpected change in the weather occurred when the party had gained the comparative safety and shelter of the hut far up the mountain side. There they remained one day and two nights, but were finally driven out in the storm by the necessity of procuring food, and it was not till the brave Carrel had brought his party to the foot of the mountain that he died of cold and exposure.

A Strasburg gentleman named Goehrs started for the Matterhorn on September 18 with two guides. After considerable progress had been made a furious gale arose and they at once commenced to retreat. No one knows how the disaster occurred, but all three fell, perhaps in consequence of a slip by one of them, which the others were unable to avert, perhaps from the force of the gale; but they were all found dead on a glacier hundreds of feet below the spot where the accident occurred. Such is the Alpine death roll for the year 1890.

A woman was recently expelled from a church in Racine, Wis. She had not a pleasant countenance while asleep in her pew, and the clergyman thought she was making faces at him.

A SUBMARINE TELEPHONE.

Successful Transmission of the Human Voice Through Water.

To transmit the sound of the human voice through twenty-four miles of water—to say nothing of 270 miles of land line—has been regarded as impossible, the retardation of the current in the submarine cable over even short distances having been found sufficient to reduce all articulate sounds to an indefinite murmur, says the Manchester Guardian. The most important submarine telephone existing is that across the river La Plata from Buenos Ayres to Montevideo, a comparatively short distance, and that is hardly a success. The French government, which has shown remarkable energy in the development of the national telephone system, however aspired to overcome the difficulties and to establish a speaking communication with London, and the English telegraphic engineering department at St. Martin's-le-Grand undertook to grapple with the problem. Under the direction of Mr. Freese, the chief engineer, a number of experiments with cables have been made, and a new cable designed in which every resource of electrical engineering has been employed to secure success. The cable consists of four thick copper wires. Two wires will be required for a single line, as a complete metallic circle is one of the first essentials; the other wires will be available to duplicate the line if successful, and in the meantime they will be used to supplement the telegraphic service. A new set of posts, entirely separate from any other wires, have been erected from London to Dover, carrying two wires to the cable, and these are fixed to the posts in a special way and crossed continually. All these precautions are taken in order to reduce the induction to a minimum. The wires used throughout both the English land line and the submarine cables are of three times the usual weight and of solid copper, being six hundred pounds per mile weight. The French line from Paris to Calais is a little lighter. Its termini are St. Margaret's bay, near Dover and Sangatte, near Calais. The cable has been constructed in England, and will be laid by the English department, but the cost will be divided. The eighty miles of land line from London to St. Margaret's bay is practically completed, as is the line constructed by the French government over the one hundred and eighty miles from Paris to Sangatte.

Since the above was written the cable has been successfully laid and is in operation.

A WONDERFUL EXHIBIT.

A Big Tree Which Will Be Seen at the Chicago World's Fair.

Among the wonderful exhibits with which Chicago hopes to startle the visitor to the world's fair, it is likely that none will create more comment from Europeans than the big tree sent from California.

This specimen, says the New York World, is from Mammoth Forest, Tulare county, Cal., and measures ninety-nine feet in circumference at the base. It is three hundred and twelve feet in height and the distance from the base to the first limb is one hundred and seventy-two feet. The tree is nearly three thousand years old. The story of the felling of the tree is an interesting one. A scaffold was built around this giant of the forest at a point twenty-two feet from the ground. The saw used in cutting it was twenty-two feet in length. The tree was cut twenty-five feet from the ground. Ten expert woodmen were employed five months and twelve days in the cutting, but when the great tree came it was hard three miles away. In its fall the big fellow imbedded himself six feet in the ground. After the upper part of the tree fell the top of the stump was leveled off and a section nine feet in height cut from it. To get this section from the forest it was necessary to build a road for four miles and indulge in much blasting and bridge building.

Since then it has been shipped to New Orleans. There a section of the tree has been cut out and hung on enormous hinges, the interior has been hollowed out and now can comfortably hold more than one hundred visitors. This unique exhibit has been fitted up with two hundred and fifty incandescent lights. It is likely that New Yorkers will be given a look at this California wonder before it is shipped to Chicago.

AMBIEXTROUS BARBERS.

Most Men Can Use But One Hand in Shaving.

There are lots of barbers in this city who won't hire a man that cannot shave himself with either hand, said a Boston barber to a St. Louis Globe-Democrat reporter. Of the people who shave themselves, forty-nine out of fifty can hold their razor in but one hand. Yet it is just as easy and much more convenient to shave the right side of your face with your right hand and the left side with the left hand if you only begin that way. No two men who shave themselves do the work alike, especially if they took it up before going to a barber.

I know a wealthy Back bay man who shaves himself standing in the corner of his room and facing the wall. In youth he was a poor country boy, and like most boys, bought a razor on the quiet. But he had no looking glass in his chamber, and rather than let his folks know he was up to his eyes in the wall and scraped away by sense of feeling. Once learned that way he never had use for a glass.

I knew an old farmer in the country who shaved himself sitting on a milking stool and looking at his reflection in a bucket of water. That was the way he learned when a boy, and he said he couldn't shave himself standing up.

A Dangerous Proceeding.

A workman at the Davenport (Ia.) gas works concluded the other day that he would electrocute a troublesome cat. He placed the feline in a tub of water and turned on the current. It was found that the tub had to be moved slightly, and while moving it the executioner got his finger in the water and nearly electrocuted himself. After he was brought to with a desire for vengeance, he renewed the experiment. There was no hitch in the proceedings this time, for just as the cat opened his mouth for the forty-ninth yell after it had been placed in the tub, the current was turned on and it died with its mouth open.

Old People.

J. V. B. is the only Sarsaparilla that old or feeble people should take, as the mineral getach which is in every other Sarsaparilla that we know of, is under certain conditions known to be enacting. J. V. B. on the contrary is purely vegetable and stimulates digestion and creates new blood, the very thing for old delicate or broken down people. It builds them up and prolongs their lives. A case in point:

Mrs. Reiden an estimable and elderly lady of 810 Mason St., S. F. was for months declining so rapidly as to seriously alarm her family. She had been afflicted with fainting spells, she writes: "While in that dangerous condition I saw some of the testimonials concerning J. V. B. and sent for a bottle. That marked the turning point. I regained my lost flesh and strength and have not felt so well in years." That was two years ago and Mrs. Reiden is well and hearty to-day, and still taking J. V. B.

Scrofula

In Its Worst Form—"White Swelling" Cured.

The remarkable effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla in the following case illustrates the power of this medicine over all blood diseases: "My son, 7 years old, had a white swelling come on his right leg below the knee, which contracted the muscles so that his leg was drawn up at right angles. Physicians lanced the swelling, which discharged freely, but did not help him materially. I considered him

A Confirmed Cripple. I was about to take him to Cincinnati for an operation, expecting his leg would have been taken off, and began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla in order to get up his strength. The medicine works up his appetite, and some pieces of bone were discharged from the sore. We continued with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and seemed to be doing him so much good, and the discharge from the sore decreased, and in a few months he had perfect use of his leg. He is now apparently as well as ever." J. W. L. McBRIDE, Notary Public, Bateswood, W. Va.

PIONEER PREACHERS.

Early on the scene to spread the Truth and Minister Consolation.

That Nevada has produced men of note in every walk in life, goes without contradiction, for their names are inscribed on the walls of fame and finance; in civil and political life; in the world of letters and the annals of crime; on charity's scroll in the first and largest and most notable contributions to that noblest charity of all—the Sanitary Fund, that administered alike to the victims of war, whether in blue or gray; and last and greatest of all, the meek followers of Christ, in all the sects and creeds known to Christendom. Her clergy has numbered among them, those who have achieved lasting fame while quietly plodding the path of righteousness in perilous pioneer days, and who have received their reward with becoming meekness, that enables them to wear well the honors so worthily won. At the head of the list we may be pardoned in naming among the earliest of the pioneers, Bishop Whittaker; Father Manogue, the eloquent preacher-politician; Hammond; Reno's favorite, Jenney; and we may be excused for loss of memory in not naming others whose devotion entitles them to be inscribed on the roll of Christian martyrs. Their minds were developed here, where natural surroundings, desert perils and privations, bring man nearer to God; and where freedom of opinion and man's natural independence expand the mind to the utmost limits of admiration for the handiwork of God and nature. In consequence, liberal views have developed in the minds of some, and this may have been at variance with orthodox teachings; nevertheless, such divines have made friends with the masses, and if any ever betrayed evidence of mortal weakness, a generous public was ever ready to clasp his hand in warmer grips of friendship and palliate any shortcoming on the broad grounds that

"A MAN'S A MAN FOR A' THAT."

Among the popular preachers in the State, and who especially endeared himself to the pioneers of the eastern and central part of it, was one that many yet remember as genial Parson Kelly. He was skilled in his calling, scholarly and eloquent, and added a vein of life and jollity to every social gathering. True, he was sometimes restored to official dignity by the firm but gentle admonition of his devout and devoted wife, whose simple reproach, couched in the one word, "Samuel!" would restore his composure to the gravity demanded of his calling. But everybody liked him; the rich cultivated him; the sick took cheer from his presence; the giddy gave cheerfully to the contribution box; the best liked him none the less, and the sports would have him bury their dead. Not a driver on the central stage lines but preferred him to any one else on the box outside, and that genial wag, Tom Reilly, who drove in to the last "home station" many years ago, used his strongest words of admiration when he said "Kelly was a lizard."

BUT KELLY'S POPULARITY

led him into politics, and to give him a position that would prove congenial to his tastes, he was elected State Superintendent of Public Schools and moved to the capital. Then the greatest misfortune that falls to man, befell him, and the death of his good wife checked his ambitions. At the close of his term, he drifted, perhaps unwisely into journalism, and became a hard worked reporter on the San Francisco papers, at a time when stirring political changes called forth steady toll that soon became drudgery. He banished grief in the excursions of the new life and worked with a will to serve his new masters. Suddenly he dropped the pencil and with his only child departed for the east to end his life in the quiet eddy of his old home. What led to his sudden resolve may be inferred by his old Nevada friends in the following: He was met by an old friend in San Francisco just after the election for the adoption of the new constitution. Reporters had been hard worked in gathering news, and Kelly told his friend of the fatigue.

"Well," said the friend, "you were of course paid extra for the extra work?"

"No, not a bit of it," said the former parson.

"What," said his friend, "after being up so many nights, did not the rich proprietor of the leading daily pay you handsomely?"

Kelly's look of disgust over the treatment would require an artist to portray on canvas, but there was no mistaking the tone with which he replied:

"Naw! They didn't even say beer."

Mining Accident.

The Chronicle of last evening says that yesterday morning a miner named John Dooley was caved on in the Gould & Curry mine and received some severe lacerations, cuts and bruises. He will recover, but he seems to be a man of many accidents, and the Chronicle adds:

Mr. Dooley has experienced many close shaves while working in Comstock mines. He was one of the imprisoned miners in the Alta in 1879; was working in the Yellow Jacket at the time of the fire in 1869, and was also identified with the Belcher air shaft fire.

A Bull on the Comstock.

In lieu of a runaway on the Comstock, the Chronicle of last night relates how a bull bucked a horse and on a goat, we could take some stock in it, but what a bull can be doing on the Comstock, when the bears have it all their own way, is beyond the comprehension of any one putting up margins.

Just Deserts.

The Post of yesterday says: William D. Miller was convicted of vagrancy by Judge Rix this morning. He was in the habit of fixing himself up in style, greasing his hair and waxing his mustache, and then planting himself in front of the Baldwin Hotel, just to "give the girls a treat."

THE BOODLE SUIT.

The Defendants Cannot Be Found When Wanted.

The suit of George W. Taylor against a number of legislators to recover some of what is popularly termed "legislative boodle," was set for trial before Superior Judge Wallace today.

The Bulletin of yesterday gives some particulars of this suit not sent to the Chronicle in its regular telegrams, and which explains the postponement. The Bulletin says:

At the previous proceedings in the case many of the defendants, who comprise nearly all the Senators from this city have been present and taken part as interested spectators, but this morning not a single defendant put in an appearance. Plaintiff Taylor was asked after the proceedings in court why he had not subpoenaed the Senators.

"Because I can't," was his reply. "I have had a man out in a buggy for four days at an expense for their services alone of $5 a day, chasing these honorable gentlemen and not one can be found. Senator Maher has gone out of town until Thursday and Hamilton is somewhere East. The others are not to be found. My man has called on them at their homes as late as midnight, night after night, but they are never at home."

"It is well known that when there is nothing in the wind, yet of these legislators can be found every day at Mike Smith's saloon on Market street. That is a sort of rendezvous for them, and if you wanted to serve papers on them, that is where you would naturally go. But they have not been there for a week. The man who has been serving subpoenas for me went there the other day and was told by the bar-keeper that none of the Senators would be found about the saloon until after my suit was over."

WANTED, A HEAD.

To the Bureau of Horticulture at the World's Fair.

At a meeting of the California State Board of Trade, held in San Francisco on Tuesday, much feeling was displayed over the adoption of a resolution recommending a candidate for the head of the Department of Horticulture of the World's Fair. The resolution was introduced by A. T. Hatch, a pioneer of Nye county, Nevada, but now one of California's prominent fruit growers. It awakened a hot discussion, resulting in a modification of the resolution. It reads: contented, we respectfully present for appointment any of the following named horticulturists as eminently qualified for the position, to wit: J. DeBarth Shorb of Los Angeles, Frank Kimball of San Diego, Elwood Cooper of Santa Barbara, George A. Fleming of San Jose.

BURGLARS INDICTED.

Four Malefactors on Their Way to the State Prison.

Last evening Wells-Fargo's detective, J. N. Thacker, and Constable Upon returned from Dayton, Lyon county, where they appeared before the Grand Jury as witnesses in the case of the State vs. John Jackson, James Elsworth, William Watson and John Cunningham, arrested here on the 24th of last month for burglarizing Wells-Fargo's office in Dayton a few nights before. The entire quartette were indicted, not only for burglary, but also for attempted jail breaking. Their trial is set for the 22d inst, and their chances for an extended sojourn at Warden McCullough's health resort are thought to be first class.

To Leave for Australia.

The Virginia Chronicle of last evening says: John Harrington, M. H. Burke, the rifle-shot, James Stephens and James Retallick, four well-known miners of the Comstock, will leave in a few days to accept positions in the Broken Hill proprietary mines, having been sent for by William Harper, formerly a foreman on the Con. Cal & Va. They will receive $175 a month from the time they step on shipboard.

Cold shoeing.

Attention is called to the new "ad." in to-day's GAZETTE, of Charles P. Forrell, the Sierra street blacksmith, who makes a specialty of cold shoeing, which is said to possess advantages over other methods, that needs only to be tried to convince one. Mr. Forrell is an expert in horse shoeing and his work will be found satisfactory to all who give him a trial.

William Brannon, the proprietor, and George Martin, City Tax Collector, were instantly killed and several others wounded.

The Salt Lake Tribune of the 14th inst. says: "Colonel Richard J. Hine, son of the United States Department of Agriculture, and special agent to investigate the question of the irrigation of the land lands of the West, is in this city, having come down from Idaho last evening." Why not come to Nevada, Colonel, and report on our needs as well as other parts of the arid region?

CLERICAL SALARIES.

The Liberal Remuneration Re-

Handsome Incomes from Dispensing the Gospel of Jesus Christ Among the Citizens of New York City.

Howard Crosby received $8,000 a year, and the congregation will give a far larger sum to anyone that can fill his place but, alas! such men are not to be had for money. He had a handsome inheritance which enabled him to gratify his unusual benevolence, says a New York correspondent of the Troy Times-Parkhurst and Jotham (also Presbyterians) each receive the same amount, which seems large, but these men have so many ways for money that they do not get rich very fast. They have a long summer vacation, which costs a great deal, and then it is so easy to spend money. They can readily point to other Presbyterian clergymen who are still more favored in point of salary. Paxton is paid $10,000, while John Hall has $12,000 a year and a house worth $4,000 in addition. Taylor, of the Broadway tabernacle, receives $16,000, but pays his own rent. His congregation, however, carries $50,000 life insurance for his family, which is a very handsome addition, and he may certainly be considered, "well-to-do in the world."

Rector Rainsford of St. George's receives $8,000 and a house, which is such handsome pay that Father Ignatius expected a liberal fee for preaching in St. George's pulpit. Rainsford, however, tendered him only $50, which he returned as being too small for the occasion, and in this manner Rainsford came out $50 ahead. Rector Satterlee of Calvary is not so well paid, for though he has a house, the salary is only $8,000. We reach higher figures at St. Bartholomew's, where Rector Green is paid $8,000 and a house. His congregation includes the Vanderbilts, whose father (William) was buried from that church, on which occasion admission was by ticket. Rector Brown of St. Thomas' also receives $8,000 and a house, with the satisfaction of having the most fashionable congregation in the city. Rector Huntington of Grace is paid $8,000, but the rectory is the most spacious in the city except Bishop Corrigan's palace. Grace church was at one time the center of fashion, but it is now compelled to live on the memory of the past.

Morgan Dix, the rector of Trinity church, has a large staff of assistants. His salary is $12,000, and an allowance for house rent equal to $4,000 a year. The assistants who serve Trinity chapel and St. Paul's receive $7,500, which is large pay for small work. Trinity estate is the greatest in America and is really worth $100,000,000 but its income may not be so large as that valuation naturally represents. At the lowest estimate, however, it is from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. The cashier or "comptroller" is Stephen V. R. Cruger, who receives $10,000 a year for signing checks, the real work being done by his clerks. He is rich by inheritance, while his wife is noted as a clever author, her pen name being Julien Gordon.

The efforts of the Protestant Episcopal church in this city are now directed to the construction of a grand cathedral. Trinity, however, can do the whole work alone out of the advance in real estate during the next decade. To prove this I refer to the recent sale of a plat (containing less than an acre) to the government for the appraisers' warehouse. The locality is in what once was Greenwich village, once considered Trinity's poorest property, but it brought $400,000, being an estimated advance of double in ten years, and all of Trinity's property is advancing at the same rate. To return to salaries, Bishop Potter receives $6,000 and his house rent, which is $3,000 additional. The Potters are a rich family, and Howard Potter, brother of the bishop, is up among the millions, all made in the banking house of Brown Bros., of which he is now senior partner. Their wealth, however, has always been identified with good purposes.

Heber Newton and Robert Collier are among the $6,000 men, but the latter makes a handsome addition by lecturing. He does not, however, hold the same distinction here that he did in Chicago, nor does Kittredge, which shows how easily New York dwarfs Chicago men. Eaton, who succeeded Chapin in the Church of the Divine Paternity (Universalist), is also a $6,000 man. The rich reformed Dutch church pays each of its pastors $8,000, with a retiring pension of more than half pay. The latest pensioner is Ormiston, whose voice and health have utterly failed, and yet his intellect is in normal condition, rendering his retirement very painful. The most independent or rather unrestricted preacher is Charles F. Deems. Vanderbilt bequeathed him $20,000 in money and the life use of a large church. Deems has no board of trustees and all he needs is a sexton, a choir and some one to attend to pew-letting and collecting rents. He is indeed the most autocratic preacher of the present age; but this privilege will die with him, for the church will then revert to the Vanderbilt estate. It is the only church in the world whose existence rests on one person's life.

Too Much.
The Lewiston Journal prints the story of a man who lived several years ago on one of the islands of Maine, and was commonly reputed to be a miser. The anecdote does not of itself establish the truth of this common report, but it shows pretty conclusively that he was not a man of the world. He possessed considerable property, and one winter, during the session of the legislature, had occasion to visit Augusta. He stopped into a restaurant for dinner, and the waiter spread before him the printed bill of fare. The miser took it for a bill of charges. He ran his eye over it and quickly footed up the figures at the right of the page. Then he sprang to his feet in indignation. "What!" said he, "all that to pay, and I haven't eat a mouthful yet?" No doubt he thought the Augusta people a set of sharpers, and, according to the Journal, on his next visit to the capital, he carried with him a pall of virulence.

THE FIRST HORSE CAR.

An Inventor of Great Merit Who Is Little Known.

I had just come out of Madison Square Garden theater and was walking down Twenty-seventh street toward Fourth avenue, writes a New York correspondent of the Evening News, when a man of medium size, with gray hair and shoulders slightly bent, passed by me with a brisk step. It was John Stephenson, the man who built the first horse car. He is a marvelous man. He had many a hard knock in his time, and has survived misfortunes that would have downed many less able and persevering men. Twice he has been compelled to start into business afresh; the first time by reason of a fire that destroyed all his possessions; the second time from being sold out by a mortgage. Only by the most remarkable perseverance and close attention to work has he been able to make his way. One need only look at his face and feel of his horny palms to appreciate and understand the rough experience through which this man has passed. And yet he is an example to all men in his devotion to his religion and his practice of his belief in daily life. He told me in conversation once that in the darkest days he never doubted that the clouds would pass and all be bright again. It is this that has sustained him all through. He is a lover of music and literature, and derives the greatest pleasure from the perusal of a good book. His inventive mind is still busy grappling with the mechanical problems. As improvements are needed he works them out, especially in connection with street cars of whatever motive power. Around his knee play his great-grandchildren, of whom he is very fond.

He is quite well off and has a nice home in the country. He is over eighty, but he does not leave his children a comfortable legacy.

An extraordinary tenant is Mrs. Anna Fuchs, of Vienna, who lived in the same tenement for forty years and never quarreled with her landlord. She took possession at eighteen, and lives there now as a woman of fifty-eight years.

Hebrew Becoming a Living Language.
Hebrew, it is said, is again becoming a living language in Palestine. The thousands of the chosen people who are going there from different countries, being unable to communicate with each other in their ordinary language, resort to the knowledge which they have of Hebrew in their religious services for a means of communication.

"August Flower"

Mr. Lorenzo F. Sleeper is very well known to the citizens of Appleton, Me., and neighborhood. He says: "Eight years ago I was taken 'sick,' and suffered as no one but a 'dyspeptic can. I then began taking 'August Flower.' At that time 'I was a great sufferer. Everything I ate distressed me so that I 'had to throw it up. Then in a few moments that horrid distress 'would come on and I would have to 'eat and suffer 'again. I took a 'little of your medicine, and felt much 'better, and after 'taking a little more 'August Flower my 'Dyspepsia disappeared, and since that time I 'have never had the first sign of it. 'I can eat anything without the 'least fear of distress. I wish all 'that are afflicted with that terrible 'disease or the troubles caused by 'it would try August Flower, as I 'am satisfied there is no medicine 'equal to it.'"
